

EM3 Jobs Fuse –supporting individuals and employers during the coronavirus pandemic.

The Jobs Fuse is a new service helping those whose jobs have been affected by coronavirus in the local area get back into employment –while supporting key regional employers with gaps in their staffing due to the pandemic.

The service is a joint partnership created by the National Careers Service and the Enterprise M3 Growth Hub.

Services for employers in the area

The service is available to local employers due to make redundancies who can contact a dedicated telephone number to find out about the careers advice and additional support available to staff.

In addition the service promotes local vacancies to individuals across the area who are immediately available to start work.

For further information call 0808 196 3596

Supporting individuals affected

Jobs Fuse offers support to those whose jobs have been affected by the coronavirus pandemic through its dedicated telephone enquiry services –which offers free, impartial and professional careers advice and guidance –including practical aspects such as helping people understand their skills, explore job opportunities as well as local labour market information and access to training.

For further information call 0800 100 900